

INTRODUCTION

Caregivers have a vital role to play in the provision of palliative care and are important team members in providing impeccable care to patients diagnosed with a life-threatening or life-limiting illness and their families. It is care that helps people live their life as fully and as comfortably as possible. Palliative care is patient-centred and identifies and treats symptoms which may be physical, emotional, spiritual or social. Because palliative care is based on individual needs, the services offered will differ but may include: Relief of pain and other symptoms, for example, vomiting, shortness of breath; provision of psychological and spiritual support to both the patient and their significant others, it should begin at diagnosis and can take place alongside other treatments and can be provide anywhere. Palliative care is a patient-centred model of care, meaning that the patient is involved in all decision-making regarding his treatment and care, additionally family and carers can receive practical and emotional support.
